Precious & Base Metals Analysis - Combined Offer

How it works:

By subscribing to GFMS Analytics' Precious Metals Market Briefing you will receive a 25% discount on your subscription to the Base Metals Market Briefing produced by sister company GFMS Metals Consulting. Both reports are structured so that companies can subscribe just to the metals (see list below) that affect their business, which allows significant savings.

About the reports:

The Precious Metals Market Briefing complements the in-depth research generated by GFMS for the gold, silver and platinum group metals surveys, but its considerably higher frequency gives market members valuable access to the benefits of the GFMS research force and database, with a slightly different method of presentation and comment. Research is written in the free spirit associated with GFMS' independent stance on the markets and is expected to prove valuable to the whole range of stakeholders in the precious metals markets, from the producers and consumers through to brokers and banks.

The Base Metals Market Briefing has been established to provide a flexible, tailor-made solution to your requirements for market analysis and information. It allows you to subscribe purely to the analysis that affects your industry, which offers massive savings compared to other sources of analysis (ear), which take into consideration the latest market developments.
