

Gold Survey 2004 - Chinese Edition

GFMS are delighted to announce that the 7th Edition of the Chinese Language version of the Gold Survey was launched in Beijing yesterday. Paul Walker, CEO of the precious metals consultancy noted "GFMS have been committed to quality research in China for over 20 years. Over this time, we have built up an unrivalled network of contacts and supporters, and the production of the Chinese versions of the Gold Survey enables us to give something back to the market."

Gold Survey 2004 Chinese Language Version was launched at The Peninsula Palace Hotel in Beijing on 30th June. Both the launch event and the production of the Survey was supported by China National Gold Group Corporation, one of China's premier mining groups, the Beijing Gold Economic Centre and the World Gold Council. Walker commented "all three organisations have played and continue to play a pivotal role in the Chinese gold market, and we are honoured that they have made this possible". During his speech, Cheng Fumin, President of China National Gold Group Corporation noted "we recognise that GFMS are the premier researchers of the global precious metals markets, and we are extremely pleased that we have been able to cooperate on the production of the Chinese version of this important survey of the gold market".

Veronica Han, GFMS' representative in China, took the opportunity to introduce herself to the market place in her new capacity and said "China presents its own unique research challenges, and I am looking forward to working with GFMS covering the gold, silver and platinum group metals".
